Report on World Breastfeeding Week Celebrations at Navnirman College of Nursing, Lovale

Date: 1st August 2024-07th August 2024

Location: Navnirman College of Nursing, Lovale

---

Introduction

World Breastfeeding Week, celebrated from August 1 to August 7, 2024, was observed with great enthusiasm at Navnirman College of Nursing, Lovale. This year's theme emphasized the importance of breastfeeding for the well-being of mothers and infants. The college organized a series of informative and engaging activities throughout the week to raise awareness and educate participants about the significance of breastfeeding.

Events and Activities

1. Poster Presentation:

- A vibrant and informative poster presentation was held, showcasing various aspects of breastfeeding, including its benefits, techniques, and challenges. The posters were prepared by nursing students and faculty members, and they provided valuable insights into both scientific and practical aspects of breastfeeding.

2. Quiz Competition:

- A quiz competition was held to test participants' knowledge about breastfeeding and neonatal care. The quiz featured questions on breastfeeding benefits, techniques, and neonatal resuscitation. The event was designed to be both educational and interactive, encouraging participants to engage more deeply with the subject matter.

3. Skit Performance:

- A skit was performed by the students at Burambi PHC highlighting common misconceptions about breastfeeding and promoting its importance. The performance was both educational and entertaining, effectively conveying key messages about the role of breastfeeding in ensuring the health of infants and mothers.

4. Guest Lectures:

- Dr. Smita Chodankar (MS in Obstetrics & Gynecology): Dr Chodankar provided a comprehensive overview of neonatal resuscitation, underscoring the importance of proper techniques and immediate care for newborns. Her session highlighted the crucial role of breastfeeding in the early stages of neonatal care.
- Mrs. Divya KM (MES College of Nursing): Mrs Divya K.M delivered an engaging lecture on the importance of breastfeeding, emphasizing its benefits for both the mother and the child. She discussed how breastfeeding contributes to the infant's immune system and overall development.

5. Presidency and Attendance:

- Dr. Pradnya Kadam (Principal, Navnirman College of Nursing): Dr. Kadam presided over all the programmes held throughout the week, offering her valuable guidance and support. Her presence underscored the institution's commitment to promoting breastfeeding.
- Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff: The week's events were well-supported by both teaching and non-teaching staff, who actively participated in discussions and activities, reflecting the college's unified approach to this important cause.

Conclusion

The World Breastfeeding Week at Navnirman College of Nursing, Lovale, was a resounding success. Through a combination of educational lectures, creative presentations, and interactive activities, the college effectively communicated the critical importance of breastfeeding. The week-long celebration not only enhanced awareness but also fostered a supportive environment for learning and discussion on breastfeeding practices. The involvement of distinguished guests and active participation from staff and students demonstrated the college's commitment to promoting maternal and infant health.

Recommendations

- Continue organizing similar events annually to maintain awareness and education on breastfeeding.
- Explore additional interactive formats to engage a wider audience, including virtual platforms and community outreach programs.
- Encourage more collaborations with experts in maternal and child health to provide diverse perspectives and expertise.

Acknowledgments

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Smita Chodankar, Mrs. Divya KM, Dr. Pradnya Kadam, and all the teaching and non-teaching staff for their invaluable contributions to making World Breastfeeding Week a meaningful and impactful experience at Navnirman College of Nursing.
